

Denial Letter: H-1B Denied - Lack of In-House Employment

USCIS Decision Notice

Petition: I-129 (H-1B Specialty Occupation)

Petitioner: AlphaTech Solutions, Inc.

Beneficiary: Ramesh Iyer

Receipt Number: EAC2412345678

Date: April 3, 2024

Summary of Decision:

The petition is denied due to failure to establish that the beneficiary will be employed in a specialty occupation at the petitioner's worksite and that an employer-employee relationship will be maintained throughout the requested period.

Key Issues:

- The petitioner failed to submit a detailed itinerary of services and engagements as required under 8 CFR §214.2(h)(2)(i)(B).
- No client letter was submitted to confirm that the beneficiary will be performing services at an end-client location.
- The contract provided does not include the name of the beneficiary nor describe the job duties in sufficient detail.

Conclusion:

Due to lack of credible evidence showing valid in-house employment or control over the work to be performed at third-party sites, USCIS concludes that the petitioner has not met the requirements for H-1B eligibility.

Decision: Petition denied.
